THE MAYSVILLE MAN

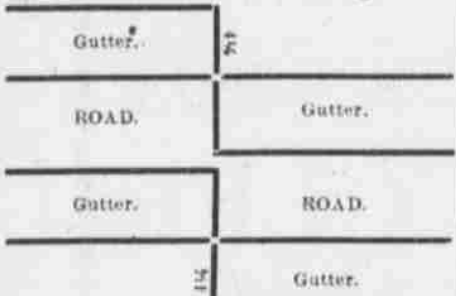

Mr. Lee Hauke Writes of the Late California Disaster

In a letter to a friend in this city Mr. Lee Hauke, formerly of this city, writes of the terrible earthquakes and fire in San Francisco—

WOODSIDE, CAL., April 19th, 1906.
Dear Friend: No doubt that you and other friends will be glad to hear that I am O. K., but I do not know how my brother (Elmer) is. The part of the city he is in is all burnt. In fact the whole of 'Frisco is on fire, with no water. The mountains down here are full of smoke from the city; burnt paper and ashes are flying in every direction, the sky is red and the larger part of 'Frisco must be burnt by this time.

This place was in the worst of it and the shock was greater here than at any place. We drove down to Redwood City yesterday morning and there is not a brick or stone building standing, and very few frame houses. The cottages here stood except chimneys, which all fell. The room that I occupied when I first came down here is a total wreck; the chimney fell over on the bed, and had it not been for the wood ceiling the two men would have been killed. Outside of that, and the wreck of store, our place is all right, but the store is a sight. I am in the safest place on the farm—the cottage is built of tar paper nailed to 2x3 studding, so if another shock comes and the building falls I do not think it will hurt me much.

When the shock came my roommate was just getting up, so I was awake. The bed jumped two feet from the wall and we started for the door; the house was rocking like a cradle. The ground is split open, in some places the cracks being four feet wide. One place in the road between here and Redwood the road side-stepped four and a half feet like this drawing—

[Mr. Hauke also diagrams an arch at Stanford University, in which the "keystone" had dropped about six inches.—Ed.]

The motion was from South to North. There are thousands killed in 'Frisco, but very few killed in this neighborhood. One man on the next farm was killed and four were killed at Palo Alto. In the sleeping quarters for girls at Palo Alto, the floors let loose at one side and beds slid to basement, but strange today no one was hurt, to speak of. At the Inuana Asylum over one hundred were killed.

I want to go to 'Frisco but there is no way to go except to walk—no trains, wires all down and what news we get is by people driving through. It is the most terrible thing I have ever witnessed and do not care to witness another.

The ground is cracked from miles below here all the way up to 'Frisco. Can hear the blasts from 'Frisco down here—blowing down the houses with dynamite to stop the fire. I was just talking to a man that drove down from 'Frisco and he tells me that when he left there last night at 12 o'clock the wind had shifted to the North and the whole city was doomed. There was a slight shock just this minute, the second one this morning, and there were five quakes yesterday and two last night. The Professor at the University predicts another shock for tonight, but hope it does not arrive. Just had a talk with some ladies that passed through in an auto. They had to pay $200 for the use of the machine to get out of the city. They say that thousands slept in the parks last night and the only drinking water is at the Golden Gate Park and it will not last long. The large mains from the mountains are burst in three places and hundreds of men are at work to repair them. The dam is all O. K., so just as soon as the pipe line is fixed there will be plenty of water. The supply of water for 'Frisco comes from this neighborhood.

The house that I am working on moved on the foundation about two inches, chimneys all down, plaster cracked and broken and some of the woodwork on inside and a little on outside will have to be torn down; some of the dormer windows were cut down by chimneys, and the damage will be about $75,000 to the main house. The barns, dam and swimming pool are damaged.

There are several camping parties here, mostly women and children. Their husbands are in 'Frisco and they can get no news from them, so they are very much excited. They stand down by the road and every rig that comes along they stop and inquire for news.

There is not a breath of air stirring here to day and it is very sultry. The sky is over- shadowed with smoke and ashes, which makes it look awfully gloomy. There is a family of mother, ten girls and a boy, on farm adjoining.

They slept out under the trees last night; their house was stone and is no more. Some of us went over to their place yesterday to rescue the horses. They were pinned down under the barn and had to cut away the roof and floor before we could get them out. They were not hurt much.

Mr. Perry Jefferson of Carlisle passed his seventy-second milestone of life last Monday.

The report from Mr. George M. Clinger this morning is slightly favorable. He is resting easier.

There is a movement on foot at Flemingsburg toward having the streets sprinkled with oil this summer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Manwood of Newport, after a week's visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Jackson, of Houston avenue, returned home this morning.

Rev. G. W. Bunton of the Third Street M. E. Church is assisting Rev. Thomas Hanford at Augusta in a revival service.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ball will leave Monday for Birmingham, Ala., to attend the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South. Mr. Ball is Delegate from the Kentucky Conference, and this is the third time he has attended General Conference.
